To Whom It May Concern,

I'm happy to recommend Miranda Morton, who has been an intern with our Denver office at JLA Architects since September 2022 while completing both her undergraduate and master's degrees in architecture. Over that time, Miranda has been a consistently dependable and thoughtful contributor to our team. From early on, she showed a genuine interest in understanding how we work - our standards, our process, and the types of projects we take on - and she put that into practice. She's someone who pays attention to details, asks good questions, and follows through.

Miranda has contributed across multiple phases of work, including schematic design through construction documents, and has also supported community outreach efforts. Her experience with us has included a range of project types - market-rate and affordable housing, lower-density and mid-rise residential, mixed-use developments, and some smaller commercial work. She approaches each with a willingness to learn and a steady work ethic.

She communicates well, takes direction without hesitation, and takes pride in producing solid, reliable work. Just as important, she is someone people enjoy working with. She fits well within a team, is respectful of others' time and input, and contributes positively to the overall project environment.

Miranda has grown steadily during her time with us, and I expect that trend to continue as she moves into the next phase of her career. I would recommend her without hesitation.

Please feel free to reach out if you'd like any additional perspective.

Sincerely,

Erik Jansson, AIA, NCARB, LEED AP BD+C
